Working for the legal sector

Data accuracy is essential in the highly regulated legal sector. Processing teams and administrative support functions must handle client data and vital paperwork accurately. Mistakes which take only a few seconds to make can have big repercussions.

The average error rate for our legal clients is 3.2%.

Meaning 3.2 in every 100 pieces of data your people process contains a mistake.

Our research suggests once a mistake is made it takes twice as long to track down and twice as long again to fix.

Results show that people working in the legal sector typically spend 19% of their time making, finding and fixing mistakes.

That's 19% of your company's salary bill

It's like

ERRORS

Results show a 48%
reduction in errors!

That's £1,704 saved
per person
per year

Measurable results prove return on investment

All participants take a test assessment at the beginning and the end of the training. This tracks their improvement in accuracy and processing speed.

Results show the training measurably reduces data error within the legal sector by 48%.

The return on investment is calculated through the value of the time saved through making fewer errors. The typical saving within the legal sector is £1,704 per person per year.
